AMUNDSEN AND THE SOUTH POLE

Noted Explorer Draws Large Audience at Lecture Given Under Joint Auspices of Phillips Academy and November Club

A simple story of a great achievement, modestly told by a man who accomplished a feat never before performed by living man, drew an audience to the Phillips Academy chapel last evening, which packed the house to the doors. "The Discovery of the South Pole" as related by the renowned explorer, Roald Amundsen, attracted people, not only in Andover, but from North Andover, Lawrence, and surrounding towns.

Paradoxically, Amundsen started for the North Pole, but arrived at the South Pole. In 1902, while he was equipping for his expedition, Peary and Cook reached the North Pole, causing him to change his plans, and seek a new goal. For many reasons he did not wish to divulge his plans, and it was with difficulty that he secured the dogs necessary for an antarctic expedition, and not until he had passed Madeira, did he divulge the change in plans to his own men. Leaving Norway on the good ship "Fram" on August 15, 1910, with twenty men, and a hundred dogs, five months were required in reaching the antarctic, and the ice barrier on which was built the headquarters and from which trips were made to place the supply depots.

While at the ice barrier, Captain Amundsen received a visit from Captain Scott, to whom he gave half his dogs which by that time had increased to one hundred and twenty. Parting, to pursue the same purpose, each according to his own plans, Amundsen first reached the goal, leaving a letter to Scott, which was afterwards found among the ill-fated man's papers.

The speaker described his winter camp where the men worked industriously to make sleds, clothing and other equipment necessary for changing conditions, showing pictures of the wonderful ice rooms which supplemented the house brought with them on board the ship. This was not Captain Amundsen's first trip to the antarctic, as he had been there in 1897 and 1898, with the Belgian expedition. Although this experience was valuable, his station was four hundred miles distant from the region he had visited before, and he found a different equipment necessary. Among the pictures shown were several of animal life, including huge seals and penguin, which he said had no fear of man whatever.

The unique method of marking his foot stations, located one hundred miles apart, by placing a line of fifty flags one half mile apart on a course at right angles to the one traveled, is according to Captain Amundsen, the real secret of his success.

Starting on his dash for the pole on September 21, 1911, he was turned back by a temperature of seventy-five degrees below zero, and obliged to wait another month, starting on Friday, October 13, with five men, four sleds and fifty-two dogs. These sleds were each equipped with a bicycle wheel, adjusted to accurately measure the distance traveled. Observations were frequently taken, and a straight course pursued over ice fields, some smooth and some broken by

MOVES TO NEW FACTORY

Tyler Company Increasing Production of Footwear—New Concern Locates in Old Factory

As previously announced, the Clark Manufacturing Company has rented a limited space in the old building of the Tyler Rubber Company on North Main street, left vacant by the removal of certain manufacturing departments to the other plant of the latter company on Railroad street.

The Clark Company will engage in the manufacture of crepe soles. This concern is in no way connected with the Tyler Rubber Company or with its president, Myron H. Clark.

The Tyler Rubber Company, no longer engaged in the manufacture of automobile tires, which would have eventually required a large amount of floor space and machinery, has been in a favorable position to combine its activities in one plant, including all manufacturing and office departments.

A move of this nature clearly makes for greater economy in manufacture and a more efficient supervision of processes. Moreover, it will not preclude possibilities of considerable expansion in its present lines of manufacture.

Such has been the desire of the company for some period of time, and as a result of careful planning in the past, it is now possible to have the change completed by the first of the year with practically no interruption in business.

The old plant on Main street will thus be set free for leasing space to other concerns or to be put to any other use the Tyler Company may desire later.

General business last month was ahead of the corresponding month last year. On footwear, the company is increasing production as fast as it can hire and train new employees.

Commencing the week of November 3, a four-day week schedule will be in effect in the Sundries Department of the Tyler Rubber Company.

On footwear the old schedule continues, and production will be increased as fast as new employees can be trained.

Four Names Inscribed on Tablet at Memorial Hall

The Relief Corps met Tuesday evening in Grand Army hall, with Mrs. Annie P. Davis, president, in the chair. Mrs. Frank S. DELEGATES AT HATHORNE

Andover Chamber of Commerce Represented at Meeting and Dinner of Essex County Board of Trade

William C. Crowley, Thomas E. Rhodes, Joseph Rand, and George A. Higgins, were delegates from the Andover Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the Essex County Associated Boards of Trade held on Wednesday at Hathorne. About forty members were present, representing all the cities and towns in the county.

The Referenda were discussed, particularly the one relative to the gasoline tax. The Essex County referendum was unanimously approved and the Associated Boards of Trade urge the citizens of Essex County to vote "Yes" on this important matter. Under the law, the trustees of the Agricultural School must be seven in number, four of them to be appointed by the Governor; the others must be the Essex County Commissioners; all of them must be citizens of Essex County.

As commonly understood, the passage of the above referendum does not deprive the County Commissioners of a voice in the affairs of the County School, but it merely gives the full power of the control and management of the school to the full Board of Trustees, constituted as stated above, where it rightfully belongs.

The sentiment of the trustees is expressed as follows:

"There can be no efficient conduct, respect, or responsibility in your own home unless you as parents of the children have the care and custody of the home property and the management of its affairs. It is exactly the same with this School. The Trustees of the School cannot efficiently and properly render the great service intended for the 350 boys and girls of Essex County now attending this school, unless they have full responsibility.

"Therefore, the Trustees of the School appeal to you to vote 'Yes' on this important referendum on your ballot next Tuesday."

At noon a delicious chicken dinner was served at the Home-making Building of the Essex County Agricultural School, by the students directed by Mrs. John A. Morrill, formerly of this town. Attractive hand-

Alvan T. Fuller, candidate for Governor, Eliot Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Representative Charles E. Abbott, Mrs. Alonzo Woodside of Winchester, and Hugh A. Clegg, candidate for State Senator, were the speakers at an enthusiastic Republican rally, held in the Town hall on Tuesday evening.

Previous to the meeting, a torchlight parade, with about two hundred participants, headed by McPherson's pipe band, led by Robert M. Nelson, marched over a course from Shawheen Village to Elm square. The streets were lined with spectators and red fire was burned at many of the houses and business places.

Chairman Alfred E. Stearns addressed the assembly as "Republicans, if you're not, you ought to be," and spoke of the present campaign as one of peculiar significance. Insidious forces are at work to undermine our government and our constitution and the alertness of every Republican is demanded to the end of the campaign.

Representative Charles E. Abbott who was the first speaker, opened his remarks by thanking his constituents for the votes which again gave him the opportunity to represent them in the General Court. As his work was not on federal lines, he didn't feel prepared to speak on federal questions. He raised the Governor's policy of "Pay as you go" and said that the budget system was one of the most important institutions in the Commonwealth. Good government demands good citizens, and good citizenship, and every man and woman must take an active part to that end.

Eliot Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was an enthusiastic "rooter" for the Republican party and high in his praise of its accomplishments during the past four years. As Mr. Wadsworth's work is with figures and finances, he devoted his time to showing how the Republican party has steadily reduced the national debt, decreasing it by $3,000,000,000 in the last four years. This was accomplished by the ceasing of war activities, the discharge of employees and the systematizing of buying methods, including competitive bidding. He took occasion to read Ben Franklin's well-known rules for becoming a rich man, "let honesty and industry be thy constant companions and spend one penny less than Three cheers and a couple of tigers!

Gloria Swanson is coming to town! No,
dear reader, not in person, but in her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled." It's due at the Colonial Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, November 3 and 4.

Listen, folks, we have some inside information on this production and being of a generous disposition, we are going to let you in on it. Some of you have a look of intense concentration on your faces as if you are trying to recall, where in the name of common sense you heard the name "Manhandled" before. Stop worrying about it, and we'll tell you. It's dollars to doughnuts,
you saw it in the Saturday Evening Post, because that's where this Arthur Stringer story first saw the light of day. Frank
Tuttle adapted it to the screen and Allan
Dwan produced it.

Shhhhhhh! Don't breathe a word of this—it's supposed to be a s-s-o-l-u-t-e-l-y con-

Gloria does an imitation of Charlie Chaplin!

Those of you who read the story know that it's about a girl, who starts life in a New York department store—a regular girl, the kind everyone likes—with the average girl's dreams and longings. Just like the rest of us, she wants money, beautiful clothes, good times and of course a Prince Charming. She has youth, beauty,—is clever and attractive, and it doesn't take her long to get everything her heart desires. But—there's always a "but", you know—in the end she comes to the bitter realization that she has lost more than she has gained. And then she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory in a very startling manner. Her Prince Charming turns out to be a poor, hard-working mechanic, whose honest love helps her in finding out what the worth-while things in life really are.

Tom Moore, Ian Keith, Arthur Housman, Lilyan Tashman and the famous Ziegfeld stars, Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, appear in the supporting cast.

LAWRENCE COLONIAL

The Players at the Colonial theatre in Lawrence will show their versatility next week, by tuning to musical comedy for the election week program. The turn will be a big one, because "Irene" is a famous musical comedy, abounding in catchy music. And there is every prospect that the offering will be the equal of any singing show that has been done here by a stock company, and there have been some good ones.

Practically every member of the present Colonial Players can sing. Furthermore, they all like to sing. And that is half the victory. William Naughton and Franklyn George played the piece last summer in Montreal, where it ran two weeks instead of the one which it was scheduled. And they are looking forward to next week, because they know the show and they know what to expect of it.

Miss Mildred Dana, than whom there is no more charming leading woman, will find a part that will fit her as snugly as if it was written expressly for her, and will sing it well. It is the part of Irene O'Dare, a shop girl who, through strange circumstance, finds herself above her class, yet who is able to look and act the part to perfection. Miss Dana will have some real opportunities and will undoubtedly make a big hit.

And so it will be with the other members of the company. Besides, a professional chorus has been especially engaged for the production, the orchestra augmented, and every effort will be made to make it as near like the original as is possible.

"Irene" was written by James Montgomery, and the tunes were made by Harry Tierney. The latter are of the jingly, catchy sort that soon become popular. Many of them, of course, are known already—such as "Alice Blue Gown." They will be whistled hereabouts before next week is over, there is no doubt about that.
To see "Irene" is to love "Irene."

White Moths Identified

The moth seen in great numbers around lamp posts and in lighted doorways, all over the states during the past two weeks, is neither the cotton moth variety nor the army worm moth, as reported. It is the male lime-tree winter moth (Erannis tilia), states Dr. H. T. Fernald, head of the entomology department at the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Ordinarily a few are seen in this vicinity in October and November, their mating period. But, owing probably to unusually favorable climatic conditions or freedom from parasitic attacks, they have increased in some unexpected forest area and probably were blown into various parts of the state. They first appeared here about the fifteenth, and they were reported in eastern New York at the same time. But Dr. Fernald and his assistants here have found none of the females of this species. Being wingless, these females can only crawl and they seldom travel from the shade, fruit and forest-trees on which they fed as caterpillars last spring and where they lay their eggs this fall.

Since these male moths are alone in this flight, Dr. Fernald does not expect any large spring hatching of ravenous caterpillars from eggs laid here this fall. These moths will have fluttered away their existence, looking for females in about another week, and then will vanish.

Symphony Orchestra at Lowell

A precedent of forty years standing was broken by the Boston Symphony Orchestra Saturday evening, at its concert in Symphony Hall. For the first time in the history of the Orchestra, a piece was played for the second time. The particular selection was "The Flight of the Bumble Bee" and at its close the applause and enthusiasm was so intense that Koussevitzky, conducting the orchestra, was recalled so often that finally tradition went by the boards and the selection was played again.

In Lowell next Sunday, the Boston Symphony orchestra will play that selection as part of the brilliant program which has been planned for the occasion. The orchestra is having a splendid season, under the guiding genius of the Russian conductor. It will not, however, be able to visit Lawrence this season. The Lowell Auditorium will doubtless be the mecca on Sunday afternoon, of local music lovers who wish to hear the great orchestra at its best.

The Lowell program:
Concerto for Orchestra in D-major Back
Overture—The Roman Carnival, Op. 9 Berlioz
Valse (arranged for Orchestra by the composer) Rachmaninov

Dubnouchka (Russian folk song) Rimsky-Korsakov
Prelude to the opera "Khovantchina" Moussorgsky

The Flight of the Bumble Bee—scherzo from the opera "Tear Saltan" Rimsky-Korsakov
Symphony No. 5 in C minor, Op. 67 Beethoven

1. Allegro con brio
2. Andante con moto
3. Allegro: trio
4. Allegro

Masonic Visitation

R.W. Albert W. Lowe, district deputy grand master of the twelfth Masonic district, with suite, paid an official visit to St. Matthew's lodge, A.F. and A.M., last Friday evening, where he witnessed an exemplification of the degree work. A banquet was served in the town hall previous to the meeting to about 250 members, by Caterer Weigel of Lawrence.

Natural History Society Visits Quarries

Fifteen members of the Andover Natural History society, visited the old quarries in the vicinity of Falls woods last Saturday afternoon, making the trip in Wright's bus. Frank B. Jenkins, whose family has held land in that vicinity since 1763, was the leader of the party, and told many interesting stories of the region. The first quarry visited, was the blue soapstone quarry at the west of the road which was worked about seventy-five years ago. The drill holes and marks of the saw with which the stone was cut may still be seen. The site of the saw mill owned by William Jenkins was also visited. A granite quarry on the east side of the road is the source of a fine-grained stone, with a buff tone. The house in North Reading, now owned by William M. Wood, is built with a combination of these two stones. At the time the quarries were worked, large quantities of the stone were used in Boston and vicinity.

The road near the granite quarry, now so overgrown as to be hardly passable for travelers on foot, was in 1807, the turnpike road from Boston to Haverhill.

A basket lunch was eaten just before the return trip, which was made at dark. Among those who participated in the outing were Mr. and Mrs. Omar P. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Brewster, Mrs. Albert W. Lowe, Misses Florence Swift, Florence Abbott, Bessie P. Goldsmith, Dorothy Ruhl, Eleanor Ramsdell, and Frank B. Jenkins, G. Edgar Folk, Jonathan Holt and Rev. C. Norman Bartlett.

Discuss Referenda at Legion Rooms

The proposed constitutional amendment giving Congress the power to regulate the labor of persons received scant support at the open forum, held at the Legion rooms on Monday evening. The majority of those present protested against Congress having so much control over the children of the nation, one person arguing that in case such a law was passed, then Congress should reimburse the parents for the board and room of such children in amounts equal to their earning capacity, during the time they were not allowed to work.

Referendum Number 3, concerning the manufacture, sale, and transportation of intoxicating liquors was also discussed with interest.

Representative Charles E. Abbott led the discussion, and arguments both for and against the various measures were given.

Attend Hallowe'en Party at Shadow Lake

Several young people from Andover attended a Hallowe'en party, given at Shadow lake, Saturday evening, by Miss Beatrice Proulx of Lawrence.

Refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served by the hostess.

Those present were Jean and Sadie McLeish, Etta Brown, Evelyn McKee, Elizabeth Smith, Edna Gates, George Brown, John Buss, William and Thomas Davis, Robert Donaldson, Norman Dufton, Edward Sullivan and Harold Johnson.

League of Women Voters Supports Referendum Number 7

Miss Mary C. Wiggin, executive secretary of the Consumers League, and strong advocate for the referendum relative to the regulation of child labor, was presented by the League of Women Voters at a well-attended meeting, held in Punchard hall, Monday evening.

Mrs. George Dick presided and introduced the speaker, who briefly reviewed the referendum, placing special emphasis on Number 3 and 7, which are officially supported by the League of Women Voters.

Miss Wiggin believes that national prohibition is succeeding, and is confirmed in her opinion, that the laws will eventually be enforced as she says that they are approved and found salutary by business men, employees of labor, the police, and those interested in child welfare.

In presenting arguments in favor of the federal regulation of the labor of persons under eighteen years of age, Miss Wiggin expressed surprise that anyone should question the wisdom and ability of Congress to pass wise laws, regulating child labor, when their ability was not doubted when it came to questions of regulating the milk supply, the transportation of food products, levying taxes and declaring war. Miss Wiggin emphatically denied that the regulation of child labor was a socialist measure, and assured her hearers that the bureau and personnel for carrying such laws into effect would not be expensive.

There has been criticism of the wording of the proposed amendment, but Miss Wiggin feels that no wording would suit those who were really opposed to such an amendment. The reason that the words "persons under eighteen years of age" are used is, that although Massachusetts law defines a child as a person under eighteen years of age, other states place the limit as low as twelve.

The speaker, who has inspected working conditions in factories, as a representative of the Consumers' League, told instances of goods produced by minors in one state, where the laws were lax, which were transported and sold in other states where such working conditions would not be tolerated. Such a state of affairs she believes, calls for federal laws, making conditions uniform in all the states.

Miss Wiggin stated that in Virginia, children fourteen years old, worked ten hours a day, at unprotected machines, which imperil their lives and safety. She is keen that federal law should at once protect these children, and bring the backward states up to a standard without waiting for the slow process of legislation, state by state. She further stated that she believed that such laws would be favored by capital, if no one state was placed at a disadvantage in the production of goods.

An opportunity was given to ask questions, and few persons had the courage to raise a dissenting voice.

Concerning Referendum Number 5

Questioned regarding Referendum No. 5, relating to so-called Private Bankers, Joseph C. Allen, Commissioner of Banks, issued the following statement:

"The purpose of the proposed law is to protect the foreign born and other residents of this Commonwealth who make it a practice to deposit funds for safekeeping or for transmission to relatives abroad, with certain persons commonly called 'private bankers.' The business of these bankers is now regulated by General Laws, Chapter 169, which is termed 'Statutes Relating to Deposits with Others Than Banks.' Not being acquainted with our banking customs and institutions, many foreign born residents naturally turn to persons who speak their language for advice in financial matters. They also entrust these bankers with their savings either for safekeeping or transmission to their home countries. It has been the experience of the State Banking Department that the present law is inadequate in many important respects. The law proposed simply seeks to regulate such activities, in order that the person of small means may be further protected against fraud or misrepresentation.

Its main requirement is that any person engaging in this business shall deposit with the State Treasurer an adequate bond as a test of his financial stability. As regards the transmission of money abroad, it seeks to regulate only those persons who forward sums, the average of which is less than $500. It can readily be seen that the proposed law aims, not at the enactment of prohibitive requirements, but at the lessening of the possibility of loss to those persons who can ill afford to lose their savings. It also removes an exemption which the present law gives to 'persons engaging in the banking or brokerage business.' Many persons have, in the past, evaded supervision by claiming to be brokers.

A notable fact is that the duly licensed bankers do not oppose this legislation but welcome it as further safeguarding their business.

World Service Institute at South Church

Representatives from the Congregational churches of Andover as well as the Baptist church, were present at the World Service Institute, held at the South church on Wednesday.

Mrs. Grace Grennell Farmer of Montclair N. J., a woman of great ability and a keen speaker, gave an interesting exposition of the book, "China's Challenge to Christianity" by Lucius Chapin Porter, which is to be used as a study book in the missionary societies this winter. It is hoped that this preliminary meeting may result in a union study class.

The meeting was held under the direction of the Missionary Department of the Woman's Union of the South church, and the meeting was presided over by Mrs. John V. Holt. The devotional exercises which opened the morning session, were led by Mrs. Frederick E. Newton.

PUNCHARD NOTES

Punchard vs. Danvers

Tomorrow afternoon the Punchard football team meets Danvers on the Playstead. The Punchard boys have chalked up three decisive victories and two ties, and this game is expected to result in a victory for Coach Lovely's boys.

Sophomore Reception

Friday evening the Sophomore class gives the annual reception to the Freshmen, in Punched hall. It will take the form of a costume party. Dancing, games, and stunts will be enjoyed.

The matrons are: Mrs. Gutterson, Mrs. Albers, Mrs. Emmons, Mrs. Lundgren, Mrs. West, Mrs. Whitcomb, Mrs. Gouck, and Mrs. Allen.

The committees are as follows:

Social Committee—Edna Albers, William Emmons, Malcolm Lundgren, Marjorie West, and Irving Whitcomb.

Refreshment Committee—Daisy Stevens, Margaret Scott, Frances Metcalf, William Emmons, and Malcolm Lundgren.

Invitation Committee—Annie Jamieson, Marion Elliot, Phyllis Clark, Dorothy Hanlon.

Decorating Committee—Eleanor Keith, Edna Albers, Marjorie West, William Emmons, Malcolm Lundgren, and Annette Anderson.

Pinkerton 60—Punchard 17

The Pinkerton girls' basketball team went to Derry, N. H., last Friday afternoon to play the first game of the season with the Pinkerton Academy girls, and were defeated by the score of 60 to 17. The local girls put up a good fight, however, and played clean ball, only one foul being called on Punchard to seven for the Pinkerton team. The Derry girls had the advantage of playing on their own grounds and were also a heavier group of players. While the Punchard girls felt sorry for their defeat, they did not let it hurt their school spirit and their determination to win from the Pinkerton girls when they come to Andover on November 3, is keen. The lineup follows:

PINKERTON
P. Hephworth, r.f.
Capt. B. Hird, l.f.
A. McAskill, j.c.
A. Vadeboncau, A. Pillsbury, s.c.
F. Clark, r.g.
W. Sow, l.g.
S. Pelky, l.g.

Points made by B. Hephworth 30, B. Hird 30, D. Trott 9, M. Fallon 8. Miss Trott made five baskets from fouls. Referee: Miss Marshall. Timer: W. Reynolds. Score: Pamela Proctor.

The Pinkerton girls served refreshments to the visiting team. The trip was made in Crockett's bus.

Trip to Navy Yard

Mr. Hamblin took a group of pupils to the Charlestown Navy Yard, which was open on Navy Day. Norman Hatch, Daniel Allen, Carl Alfred, Isabel Bodwell, and Ruth Lauriat were members of the party. The ships were visited and also the historic "Constitution." The party saw how rope is made and how steel is refined. It was a most profitable and enjoyable trip.

Wednesday, November 5, the return game with the Pinkerton Academy basketball team is to be played in the Guild House.

Tuesday Club Rummage Sale

The Tuesday Club knows that all the kind friends who helped with generous contributions, as well as those who helped the day of the sale, would be pleased to know that it was a great success. We are also grateful to the Townsman as well for its generous help. This is also an opportunity to remind our friends that the same sale will be held again next year, and that all the money raised is used entirely for charitable work.

"Against" Daylight Saving

We "tillers of the soil" wonder if the mill workers, clerks, and other employees ever stop to think of what daylight saving (daylight wasted) means to them—as well as to the farmer? We wonder if they realize they are hurting themselves perhaps more than they do the farmer?

In addition of the loss to the farmer of an hour each day of the best working time of the day, the hired help, with so much time, comes home tired out, and rising an hour earlier in the morning is in no condition to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

Here are some facts.

Daylight saving increases the cost of food production in this state $8,000,000 a year, and the city workers pay the bill in the increased cost of poultry, eggs, and all other farm produce. All food prices are higher here than in the manufacturing cities of the West. In Massachusetts we raise only twenty per cent of our food.

Our working families here pay $50,000,000 annually more for food than they should.

Wages are governed largely by the cost of food, and manufacturers naturally seek a locality where a fair balance exists between wages and the cost of living. That is one reason why the West and South are growing and we in Massachusetts are standing still.

When city workers do anything to help agriculture they hit themselves harder than they do the farmer. City men should get behind the farmer and help defeat daylight saving. Otherwise the price they pay for their baseball games is a staggering one and not worth the price. Massachusetts farmers could raise much more than they do, but not under this terrible "daylight" plan.

It seems to me that a vote "No" against daylight saving would show a spirit of brotherly kindness and interest as well as bring down the cost of living.

GEORGE M. CARTER
West Andover.

ATTEND COUNTY MEETING

colored menu cards, also the work of the students, were placed at each cover.

The next meeting of the Essex County Associated Boards of Trade will be held in Andover on Wednesday, November 12, probably at Shawheen Manor. This will be an interesting and important meeting, as the question of highways is to be discussed.

Members of the Andover Chamber of Commerce are interested in a proposed bill whereby the state will take over the construction and maintenance of trunk lines. Considering the present condition of Main street between Elm square and Stimpson's bridge, such a movement is of prime interest to Andover. It is a complex and vital problem, worthy of the best efforts of Andover's Chamber of Commerce and the interested support of her citizens.

Does not Favor Child Labor Amendment

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, speaking at the South Congregational church Sunday morning, urged the members of the congregation to vote against the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution, although he had received a request from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, to urge the members of his parish to vote in favor of the amendment.

Dr. Bigelow was vigorous in his denunciation of the attempt which he believes is being made to prevent youths from fifteen to eighteen years of age from engaging in any employment for which they receive compensation, pointing out that under such a system there is far more danger of the development of Loeb and Leopold types among young men, forced by law to remain idle till eighteen years of age, than there is danger of injury to the young, by certain kinds of employment which would not only provide training, for themselves, but assist their parents as well.

He argued that the children of the land had a right to determine for themselves, whether they shall work or not before they are eighteen, and that parents should also have something to say in the matter.

He said that the question which is to be on the ballot at the coming election is quite generally misunderstood and for that reason it was highly important that the voters should be enlightened as to what the proposed legislation really means.

Second Lecture by Mrs. Gilson

The referenda to be voted on at the coming election were explained and arguments for and against them were presented at the lecture given by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, at the November club house last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Gilson spoke of the interesting comments made on our coming election by the English press, which is of the opinion that the campaign has narrowed down to personalities—that it is the man, Davis, the man, Coolidge, the man LaFollette, which is being presented, rather than the several political parties themselves. Each man is honestly coming forward and doing the best according to his lights, although their lights are very different.

In speaking of the Independent-Progressive party, the speaker was of the opinion that a new party is needed. Although it had small chance of carrying the country, the situation balance. A small party has more courage to take issue on important matters and to bring forward new ideas which are sometimes cast out, but often absorbed by the other parties, as in the case of woman suffrage, postal savings and the income tax.

The contests in the state elections were also commented upon.

The next lecture will be given next Friday afternoon, November 7, at quarter past three.

Free Church Notes

Rev. Alfred C. Church occupied the pulpit of the Free church Sunday morning, at the invitation of the committee to secure a successor to Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, who recently went to Williamstown, Conn. Rev. Mr. Church, is assistant pastor of the Thompsons avenue Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

In order to encourage more sociability in the church, the standing committee has recommended that the parish be divided into four sections alphabetically, each to hold a social. The first group includes all those whose names begin with A, B, C, or D, and all men and women in this group are urged to meet in the parish house Monday evening, November 3, to make plans for the first social and entertainment.

Instead of the regular prayer meeting at the Free church on Wednesday evening,

The Final Word

We are now in the closing days of the political campaign of 1924. The battle of the ballots on next Tuesday will bring to a climax one of the most bitter contests which has been waged in the nation for many years. A three-cornered fight for the Presidency grips the entire nation in an extensive and intensive campaign, and all of the big guns of both the Democratic and the so-called Progressive parties have been fired at the Republicans now in power.

We do not believe that anything that has been said or done will jeopardize the chances of Calvin Coolidge for a full term in the President's chair. His supporters have done their utmost to discourage the feeling of apathy which they felt would play a big part in the coming election. The battle cry which has sounded from coast to coast this year has been: "Be a good citizen, and vote!" They now predict that he will be elected by a large majority.

New England will undoubtedly give the President a very flattering vote, and if the reports from other sections of the country are at all reliable, he will win handsomely over his opponents in these districts also. Davis is not without support in the South, and La Follette has certainly a following within a limited area, but the general cry of the people is for a common-sense administration.

In the senatorial fight Frederick H. Gillett is opposing the present incumbent, David I. Walsh, Democrat. With Mr. Gillett's long experience as Congressman and Speaker of the House, his qualifications are such as would make him a worthy representative of this state in the United States Senate, and his close association with President Coolidge during the latter's occupancy of the White House is bound to add strength to the President's corps of advisers. We look for a big plurality for Mr. Gillett.

Andover always takes a great deal of pride and satisfaction in helping to send John Jacob Rogers back to Washington with a large vote of confidence. Mr. Rogers is now serving this district for the sixth consecutive term and according to all present indications he will carry every city and town in the district by large majorities next Tuesday. Mr. Rogers is the type of public servant that Andover voters, regardless of party lines, delight to honor. He is a man of fine training and conspicuous ability, thoroughly familiar with the people and conditions in his district, and ever watchful and solicitous for the welfare of his constituents. He has made a serious and successful business of representing the people of this section of Massachusetts, and has in addition won a high and enviable place amongst his associates in Washington. One of the most important measures recently passed by Congress was the Rogers Bill, dealing with the Consular service, and one of his most conspicuous services was in connection with the coal situation, when during the shortage of 1921-1922, he personally arranged for shipments of coal to his district and fought for an embargo which would prevent the export of coal during a shortage.

Andover will wisely and gladly avail itself of this service until that day—surely coming—when Mr. Rogers will be drafted by Massachusetts for other duties.

One of the real big contests of this campaign is that for the Governorship between Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston. Mr. Fuller has served Massachusetts in Congress and for four years has been its Lieutenant Governor, under Governor Channing Cox. These last four years have been profitable ones for the Republican party, profitable, not in the matter of dollars and cents only, but in good deeds and actions for the people of this state. Governor Cox will go down in history as one of Massachusetts' great leaders. In Alvan T. Fuller, the state has a man who has seen much service and has been trained to take up the tasks of his predecessor. He has made many friends during his public career and they are showing their allegiance by working hard for his election.

Of Mr. Curley, the Democratic nominee, there has been much said in the way of criticism and denunciation. Whether it has all been true or not, is a matter very hard to determine. It is quite evident, however, that Mr. Curley is a vote-getter and no stone will be left unturned to get his united supporters to the polls.

The nomination of Hugh Gregg for the office of State Senator by the Republican of the fifth Essex district, appears to be amply justified, for he has made an emphatic appeal to the voters, by the clean, modest manly campaign he has carried on against an opponent who has discussed little or nothing but personalities. Mr. Gregg will receive a very large vote in Andover, North Andover, and Methuen, and there is good reason to believe that, because of the high esteem in which he is held in Lawrence, party lines will be ignored, and he is fairly certain to carry his home city.

Our Representative, Dr. Charles E. Abbott, is assured of his election, as he has no opposition. His good work during his terms at Boston is complimented by his constituents in an assured victory.

We urge everyone, no matter what the party, to come out and vote Tuesday. Put Andover over the top with your ballots and help elect the best law-makers possible.

Hallowe'en Whist Party at Legion Rooms

Squash pies, doughnuts, cider, and other good things usually associated with Hallowe'en were the unique prizes awarded the winners at the whist party held in the Legion rooms last evening.

The hall was decorated in orange and black, and candy baskets in the same color were on each of the ten tables. A special prize of a basket of fruit was awarded to Mrs. T. H. Lane, and other prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies—First, Mrs. Annie Davis, a home-made cake; second, Mary Barrett, a dozen and a half doughnuts; third, Mrs. Stella J. Lowd, squash; fourth, Mrs. Alfred White, squash pie.

Gentlemen—First, Joseph Davey, a jug of cider; second, James Moore, squash pie; third, Charles Hill, jar of jelly; fourth, Peter Hall, squash pie. Mrs. Ralph Berry was chairman of the committee. The punchers were Mrs. Joshua Hilton, Mrs. Thomas Dea, Mrs. William Rennie, Mrs. George Brown, and Mrs. John Henderson.

Historical Society to Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover Historical Society for the election of officers, presentation of annual reports, and transaction of other business that may legally come before the members, will be held in the society rooms, 71 Main street, Friday evening, October 31, at eight o'clock.

Announcement of an entertainment to be given in the immediate future will be made at the meeting.

Soccer Game on Smith & Dove Field

On Saturday, November 1, the team to represent Andover school boys in a soccer game will play against Methuen school boys. The kick-off will be at 1:30 p.m., at the Smith & Dove field.

The Industrial League game will follow at 3:00 p.m., when the Smith & Dove will play the Lowell Y.M.S.C. All school children will be admitted free.

The school boys team will be: Goal, Sime, backs, Bissett and Demars; halfbacks, Mills, Williams and E. Cairnie; forwards, Emsley, Sharp, Jackson, J. Cairnie and Bissett.

Harvest Supper

The American Legion and Auxiliary, will hold a Harvest Supper in the Town Hall, November 6, from five to seven o'clock.

The supper will consist of cold meat, beans, salads, rolls, doughnuts, cheese, pie and coffee. Tickets are fifty cents; children under ten years, twenty-five cents.

A large display of articles made by the ex-service men, and sent in to the Disabled Ex-service Men's Exchange to be sold, will be displayed in the lower hall to which admission is free. All these articles are for sale, the money going direct to the boys. The sale starts at two o'clock, and continues until 8:30.

Their are numerous articles suitable for Christmas gifts, such as cards, butterfly trays, curtain cords, and scarfs. A large attendance is desired at both supper and sale. The proceeds of the supper will be used for the welfare work during the coming winter.

crevasses, and over mountains 15,000 and 16,000 feet high, until the goal was reached on December 14, 1911. Three days were spent in making observations as Captain Amundsen said, "to be sure they were really there." The return trip was made at the rate of twenty-five miles a day, arriving at headquarters on the twenty-fifth of January, with two sledges and twelve dogs.

"Well that's about all," said Captain Amundsen, as he took his seat amid a round of applause.

New Aviator Engaged to Fly in Height-Judging Contest

The Aerial height-judging contest, which is to be held under the direction of the Andover Fraternal Organizations on November 24, 25, 26 and 27, is to be one of the most unique contests ever conducted in the United States. Full details have now been worked out by the committee representing the various lodges, and although some changes had to be made in the original plans and the dates of flying changed the general rules governing the contest remain the same, and the interest already shown in the novel scheme assures those in charge a great success.

The service of John W. Connell, who was originally engaged to do the flying has been dispensed with, and the following letter sent to all the ticket-sellers throughout the state explains the change in plans:

Through a disagreement with the Committee in charge of the Aerial Height-Judging Contest to be held under the auspices of The Andover Fraternal Organizations, John W. Connell has been released from his contract to fly from October 29th to November 1st, 1924.

The contest has been postponed, and will be conducted from November 24th to November 27th inclusive, in the same manner as originally planned, and a new aviator has been secured to conduct the flights.

It has been deemed advisable to revise the prize list, increasing both the number and value, and we are enclosing a complete list of prizes to be given.

We trust that we will receive the hearty cooperation of all in helping to make this contest a success.

THE ANDOVER FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS

WILLIAM A. ALLEN, Chairman

The list of prizes has been revised, and in doing this, the committee has not only increased the number, but has also added to the value. The two main prizes will be Nash cars, purchased through the agency of Frank Gould, a resident of this town, with a sales room in Lawrence.

The complete list of prizes follows:

- 1—Nash 5-Passenger Sedan (Special Six).

Saturday afternoon will be held open for play rehearsals, basketball games, club meetings, classes in waxwork, basketry, Christmas gifts, and other features to be announced later.

Obsequies

ELIZABETH (BROOKS) BUTTERFIELD The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth (Brooks) Butterfield, who died Thursday, October 23, at the family home, 23 Salem street, was held at the late home at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector of Christ Episcopal church. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

The bearers were Frank B. Jenkins, Charles Jenkins, Arthur Jenkins, Arthur Bliss, Joseph Blunt, and George Millett.

Hethrington Stores Doing Business at New Location

The Hethrington stores opened for business Thursday morning, in the new K. & D. block on Main street. The stock was moved Wednesday night, after business hours, the orders for the day having been completely filled with no delay or inconvenience to the public.

A formal opening will be held about the middle of the month, when the public will be given an opportunity to inspect the new store from top to bottom.

Handsome fixtures and the soda fountain, have been installed this week in the corner drugstore, to be occupied by Daniel Hartigan. The signs were placed in position yesterday. Mr. Hartigan hopes to be open for business some time next week.

On the upper floor, Dr. William A. Fleming, dentist, occupies the offices on the corner, while those on Main street are occupied by the Jeannette Beauty Shop, formerly located on Barnard street, and the Victor Barber Shop, owned by Charles Leads of Lawrence.

Abbot Academy Notes

The speaker at Sunday evening chapel was E. T. Colton, head of the Russian Department of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Colton has spent much time in Russia as a member of the Hoover Relief Commission, and is now giving his time to the cause of Russian professors and students, working for them in connection with the Student Friendship Fund.

The Hallowe'en masquerade, held on Tuesday evening, was unusually picturesque.

On Wednesday evening, the Q. E. D. society held the second political forum, at which the Third Party and the Child Labor Amendment were discussed.

Hallowe'en Party Tonight

A Hallowe'en party will be held in the town hall this evening by Andover chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. It will be in the form of a favor party. The hall will be prettily decorated and during the evening favors will be distributed.

Bert Siskind's orchestra of Lawrence has been secured by the energetic members of the committee, which consists of Mrs. Frederick H. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wiswall, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Wadman.

Andover Club to Hold Open Night

The Andover Club will hold open night at its rooms on Tuesday evening to listen in on the broadcast of election returns.

Hawthorne Hallowe'en Party

The Hawthorne club held a Hallowe'en barn dance and favor party Wednesday night at Abbott farm on Upland road. The barn was decorated with the season's offerings and favors were distributed. Dancing was enjoyed and games played. Hallowe'en refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. William Bateson, Mr. and Mrs. Percy D. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Christie, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cole, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. William Doty.

WEDDINGS

BUCKLEY-McCARTHY

The wedding of Miss Lillian McCarthy of Wolcott avenue, and Timothy F. Buckley of Lawrence, took place Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in St. Augustine's church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Donovan, pastor of the Church of Mary Immaculate of Lawrence, at Newton Upper Falls, a cousin of the bridegroom, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Agnes C. McCarthy, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Bernard D. Buckley, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride was gowned in blue velvet on brown chiffon, with a hat to match, and her sister wore blue velvet on black chiffon, with a hat in harmony.

Following the ceremony a reception to the immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride and the young couple left in the evening for a wedding trip which will include Montreal and Quebec and other points of interest in Canada. They will be at home to friends after December first at 630 Lowell street, Lawrence.

The bride is a graduate of Pynchard High School and the Lowell Normal School, and has been a teacher for several years. Mr. Buckley is a salesman in the firm of furniture dealers conducted by his uncle, T. J. Buckley, of Lawrence.

FOSTER-LANCEY

The marriage of Miss Barbara Hey Lancey of Pittsfield, Maine, and Charles Fleet Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster of this town, took place at the home of the bride on Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank L. Cann, pastor of the Universalist church of Pittsfield, and was attended by relatives and a few close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride had for her attendant her cousin, Miss Ardis Lancey of Hartland, Maine. The best man was Edward H. Foster, brother of the bridegroom. The bride was dressed in powder blue crepe and carried sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of champagne crepe and she carried Ward roses. Donald Lancey and C. Alton Palmer were ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony. Following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will live in Pittsfield, Maine, where Mr. Foster is learning the mill business. He is a graduate of the Philadelphia Textile School, and Mrs. Foster is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Notice to Legion Auxiliary Members

A meeting of the solicitors for the harvest supper will be held in the Legion rooms Monday night at eight o'clock.

All persons having unsold tickets are requested to return them immediately to Mrs. John Henderson, Red Spring road.

Douglas Gordon Crawford

The following editorial is reprinted from The Boston University News, of September 30, 1924:

The News this week records the passing of a true friend—Douglas Gordon Crawford, associate professor of English at C. B. A. Because Dr. Crawford was known to us so well, both as a teacher and a man, our sympathy is all the more real, and our sorrow more poignant.

No professor at C. B. A. ever held the love of his students and fellow instructors more than he did. His ready wit and his power of bringing out the fire and beauty in the works of the masters of literature made his classes a source of lasting inspiration.

Dr. Crawford was taken from us while still in his prime. It is safe to say that both he and the college looked forward to many years of comradeship. But while his place cannot be filled, those who knew him and studied with him will hold undying memories.

"When old age shall this generation waste,
Then shall remain, in midst of other woe
Than ours, a friend to man, to whom thou say'st
"Beauty is truth, truth beauty,"—that is all Ye know on earth and all ye need to know."

REPUBLICAN RALLY

thy gains," and suggested that the same principles would be and were being applied to the business of the nation. The speaker named Andrew W. Mellon as one of the greatest men who ever served his country; paid tribute to the diplomacy of Secretary Hughes at the disarmament conference, and extolled the Dawes plan as the most practical ever devised. The United States government is a business proposition, and a big business proposition, and Mr. Wadsworth believes that with such men as leaders, the Republican party is "the most practical, hard-hitting, go-getter organization to get things accomplished" that there is. The chief executive is a man of high ideals, a man to be trusted and a fine judge of men; he doesn't waste time and has already proved his executive ability.

Although Mr. Davis is, in the opinion of the speaker, a brilliant lawyer and a good ambassador, he has no record as an executive. Mr. Wadsworth facetiously remarked that there was not time to tell what he thought of La Follette, and concluded with an appeal to the voters to support as a Senator, Frederick H. Gillett, the intimate personal advisor of President Coolidge, thereby strengthening the Republican party in Congress.

Captain J. A. Judge of the National committee announced that he was not going to speak on politics, but on patriotism. Whatever his subject, he was a clever entertainer and belonging to a people that as he said, "Liked better to quarrel than to be lonesome," also had the gift of telling stories, ranging from pathetic to gay. He took as his catch word, "La Follette, the common people; Davis, common honesty; Coolidge, common sense." He lauded the achievements of Americans during the last century which he said were the accomplishments not of the common people but of a very uncommon people. He drew a picture of Democratic leaders at Tammany hall, and ridiculed the slogan of common honesty, and recommended that the country be run by common sense. His final appeal was that there should be no slackers on November 4, among the members of the Republican party, and whoever was elected, that everyone put his shoulder to the wheel to make the administration a success.

There are thirty-two more female voters registered in Winchester than there are males, according to Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, who spoke with pride of what the women are doing in that community. Mrs. Woodside's present ambitions are centered on electing Calvin Coolidge as President, in electing Republican representatives and congressmen, and in electing a Republican Governor and Lieutenant Governor. She is of the opinion that there is a rough political road ahead, and that a safe and sane driver such as Calvin Coolidge is needed to carry the load of ideals to its goal. She characterized Davis as a good worker, but not a good leader, and objected strongly to the color of La Follette's followers, since he appealed directly to the down and out, and not to the successful and satisfied. The speaker paid a graceful tribute to the first lady of the land, as a wonderful wife, homemaker, and mother, who understands the average woman's point of view, and deserves great credit for the making of a peaceful, quiet home, and for her gracious, sweet, common sense.

Hugh A. Clegg, candidate for Senator from the Fifth Essex District, when introduced by the chairman, took the opportunity to express his confidence in his ability to represent this district as it should be represented and his willingness to sacrifice his profession as a lawyer, in order to serve his constituency.

"One of the ablest, brainiest, most conscientious men who ever served on Beacon hill," were the words used by Alvan T. Fuller, candidate for Governor, in speaking of the work of the late John N. Cole of this town.

Mr. Fuller contrasted the business-like administration of Governor Cox, with that of the spendthrift Mayor of Boston, whom he named for the hero role in "Brewster's Millions." The only thing which endangers victory of the Republican party, according to Mr. Fuller, is over confidence, and the greatest danger to our country is not danger from socialists within, or enemies without, but from the apathy of the average American citizen.

To support his last statement, he gave figures showing the deplorably small percentage of voters who visited the polls, and stated that the cure for the ills of American politics was through the ballot box. He appealed for the support of Gillett, who was described as efficient executive, whose counsel, advice and support, would be of inestimable value to the Coolidge administration.

The Hon. John Jacob Rogers, the last speaker of the evening, based his arguments for the present Republican leader, on the favorable testimony from "the camp of the enemy," quoting the New Orleans "Picayune," which writes of him as "calm, courageous Calvin Coolidge," extolling his vision and ability, Congressman O'Sullivan of Connecticut, Shaunnese, the democratic commissioner of Worcester county, and other staunch Democrats. Mr. Rogers said he should expect the Republicans of Andover to speak well of President Coolidge, but that the testimony of the Democrats was surely unbiased. The speaker pointed out that if the Democrats won the country would be dominated by the South, that twenty-one of the twenty-two chairmen of the major committees would be Democrats. In answer to the criticism that the Republican party has no foreign policy, he cited the tariff, which is one-half of one per cent and that called for by the Underwood bill, the wise policy which regulates immigration at the port of embarkation, the disarmament conference and the Dawes commission. He said that President Coolidge needs more time to work out his policies and added his word for Mr. Gillett as a supporter of Coolidge administration.

Several selections by the Troubadour quartet of Boston, including a comic song in costume, and two old-time favorites, "Annie Laurie" and "Nancy Lee," delightfully sung, added to the interest of the evening. The rally closed with a rousing selection by McPherson's Pipe Band.

Late Rising a Bad Habit

The habit of sleeping in the morning until the last possible minute, and then dashing off to work, is very harmful from the standpoint of health. The average person does not eat enough breakfast. He does not take enough time to eat breakfast. This causes a nervous condition, which prevents the normal functioning of the bowels. The result is a mid-morning tired feeling, irritable temper, and sometimes headache and nausea.

The remedy is to go to bed early enough to get eight hours sleep and yet have time for the necessary morning duties.

One father expressed much surprise, when he saw the visiting nurse assisting in a difficult obstetric case with two physicians. He said he thought she just rode around and visited the sick.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

William McCoubrie of Phillips street, notored to Providence, R. I., over the weekend.

Leslie Coffin of the high school faculty, spent the week-end at his home in Brunswick, Maine.

The weekly rehearsal of the St. Matthew Passion chorus, will be held next week on Thursday as usual. As it is election night, the rehearsal will be brief.

Box 65 in Shawsheen Village was rung in Monday evening, for a fire in a truck belonging to a firm in Newburyport. Very little damage was done and the all-out sounded almost immediately.

Mrs. Joseph H. Lowd returned Tuesday, from a ten-day automobile trip through the White mountains. While on the trip she visited relatives in Laconia, Littleton and Farmington, N. H.

Monday evening in the Fraternal hall, Garfield temple, Pythian Sisters, held a rehearsal for the annual inspection, which comes on November 10. The Halloween party, which was to have been held Monday night, was postponed.

The fire apparatus was called out Sunday evening at 5:30, in answer to a call from the observation tower on Prospect hill. The call proved to be needless, however, as no fire could be located by the members of the department. The person in the tower was of the opinion that the blaze was in the vicinity of Gowacki's farm on Salem street.

The house at 89 Main street owned by Mrs. Harriet A. Wheeler, and run as a boarding and rooming house, has been sold to William T. Leadwell of Chicago, Illinois. Mr. Leadwell will take possession about May 1, and it is expected that the business conducted by Mrs. Wheeler will be continued. The sale was made through the W. H. Higgins real estate agency.

OBITUARIES

MRS. EUNICE GRAY CHANDLER
Eunice Gray Chandler, wife of John H. Chandler, for many years a resident of this town, died on Friday, October 24, at her home in Worcester, where the family have resided for some years.

She was born in Danvers, April 2, 1841, and lived into her eighty-fourth year.

Surviving her are three children: Florence, Frederick Gray, and James Russell; and eight grandchildren, besides two sisters: Mrs. Horace Kimball (Elizabeth Gray) of Boxford, Mrs. John W. Faulkner (Martha Gray) of Jacksonville, Florida, but formerly of this town; and a brother, James A. Gray of Saco, Maine.

The funeral was from her late home at 938 Main street, Worcester, on Sunday, Dean Henry B. Washburn of the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, a former rector of St. Mark's, Worcester, where the family attended, officiating.

RACHEL CAMERON

Miss Rachel Cameron died, after a short illness, Saturday night at 45 Bartlett street, where she made her home. The deceased had been a resident of Andover practically all her life, and for many years was employed as a tailress by the Crowley Company.

She is survived by two sisters, and a nephew, Mr. Robert Sewall of Roxbury. The body was removed to Quincy Sunday for burial in that city.

EMMA TRULAN

Miss Emma Trulan, aged seventy-seven, died Monday night at the family home, 24 Maplehead street, North Andover. The deceased was born in Andover and had been a resident here nearly all her life.

She is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Tom E. Smith of North Andover, and Miss Clara Trulan of Corbett street, Andover, and several nieces and nephews. She was a member of Grace Episcopal church, Lawrence. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the late home, services being conducted by Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, rector of Grace church. Burial was in the Old South cemetery, Andover.

The bearers were: John Murphy, Raymond Smith, Donald Smith, and Henry Todd. A profusion of floral tributes was received.

MRS. ALICE PICKLEY

Mrs. Alice Pickley, formerly Miss Alice Morgan of Andover, died of heart trouble, at her home in California on October 26.

Besides her husband, she leaves her mother Mrs. Mary Judge, and her sister, Mrs. Rosie Ward of Andover; a brother, Charles Morgan of Providence, R. I.; and four small children.

EDWARD L. ABBOTT

Edward L. Abbott, formerly of Lawrence, died Wednesday at his home in Reading Highlands.

Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at Edgerley's undertaking parlors in Reading. Burial will be in the South Church cemetery, Andover, where committal services will be read by the Odd Fellows.

M. Abbott is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Stronach, who made her home with him, and Mrs. J. Wesley Sprance of Chester, Pennsylvania.

Entertain Lawrence Firemen

District Chief King and Lieutenant Howard were the guests of honor at a turkey supper, given by the Andover department at the central fire station last night. In appreciation of the valuable assistance given by these men at the school of instruction held last summer, Captain Henry Todd, in behalf of the local department, presented them each with a suit case.

Other specially invited guests were Chief Morris, District Chief Griffin, and Henry W. Marshall, commissioner of public safety.

Members of the Andover Fire Department who were present were:

He Couldn't Wait

One evening when calling on my sweetie her little sister ran into the room and jumped on my lap. She sat real still for a few minutes, then suddenly she threw both chubby arms around my neck. "I jus' love you, Dan," she whispered in my ear. "I wish you'd please wait till I grow up so's I could marry you!" But I didn't. I married "big sister" instead.—Chicago Journal.

Obituary

MRS. ELLEN FOSTER

On Tuesday morning, Mrs. Ellen Eliza (Rea) Foster, widow of the late Charles Foster of North Andover, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George D. Ward of Lowell street. Mrs. Foster was eighty years old and has made her home with her daughter for over twelve years. For over sixty years she has been a member of the North Andover Congregational church. She is survived by three sons: Wallace of Creston, Washington, Harlan of Cambridge, and Herbert of North Andover; and one daughter, Mrs. George D. Ward of Lowell street.

Rev. Newman Matthews of the West church officiated at the funeral, which was held this afternoon at 2:30. Burial was in Ridgewood cemetery, North Andover.

Mrs. Foster has always been a home body, loving the duties of a housewife and mother.

A strange coincidence in her life was the fact that she was born on Tuesday, married on Tuesday, each of her four children was born on Tuesday, and she died on Tuesday.

Those present were Misses Frances Ter-williger, Winona Boutwell, Helen and Abbie Lewis, May and Phoebe Noyes, Mildred Hicks, Lena Davis, Helen Johnson, and Maude Hollinghurst.

The Club is making plans to give a Thanksgiving dance on November 21, at Grange hall.

Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

On Saturday last, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Burt of West Parish celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. All day long friends called with congratulations, and in the evening an informal reception was held at their home on Lowell street where they have lived all their married life and where Mr. Burt was born. Mrs. Burt was Miss Emma Jefferson, and although born in New Hampshire, she came to Andover as a very small girl and has lived here ever since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Burt have been active in all work for the good of the community which they love. Mr. Burt was for twenty-five years secretary of Andover Grange, P. of H., No. 185. A farmer who keeps abreast of the times, his opinion and advice was and is much sought in the parish where farming is the principal occupation.

There are four daughters: Mrs. Winthrop Boutwell, Miss Carolyn Burt of this town, Mrs. J. Edgar Park of West Newton, and Mrs. Frank Hill of Cliftondale; and seven grandchildren.

Many cards, beautiful gifts, and letters of congratulation came during the day, and the best wishes of the whole community go with them for future health and happiness. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Trow, whose twenty-fifth wedding anniversary it was.

Deaths

October 25, 1924, at 45 Bartlett street, Rachel Cameron, 56 years 8 months and 24 days.

October 26, 1924, Bernard Sweeney of 222 North Main street, aged 52 years.

Democrats Hold Rally Saturday Evening

There was a Democratic rally in Elm square on Saturday evening, when ex-Mayor Daniel W. Mahoney of Lawrence, and Michael A. Cronin, were the speakers. Mr. Mahoney spoke in favor of the Democratic candidate for president, John W. Davis, and called to mind the alleged discrepancies of the Republican administration, especially in regard to the bonus bill and Civil War Veterans' relief.

Mr. Cronin, who is running against Hugh A. Gregg for state senator, enumerated his qualifications for that office and gave the reasons why the voters should elect him. The rally was announced and only a few attended.

Salvation Army Meeting

Five members of the Salvation Army, of Lawrence, including Ensign Farmer, held an interesting devotional meeting in Good Templar hall on Sunday afternoon, which was very well attended. Selections were rendered by a quartet, also cornet solos were given.

Another meeting will be held in Good Templar hall on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Speaks in Favor of Referendum No. 3

Rev. Fred Smith, formerly of this town, was the speaker at the Methodist church Sunday evening. He gave a very instructive address on prohibition before a large audience of interested people. He took up three phases of arguments put out by the wets. The latter claim there is an increase in arrests for drunkenness, but Massachusetts public records show a decrease of 45 per cent. Drunkenness arrests in Massachusetts from 1914 to 1917 inclusive averaged 115,110; 1920 to 1923 inclusive, averaged 64,170, a decrease of 44 per cent.

Mr. Smith advocated voting "Yes", on Referendum No. 3, at the election on November 4.

"The wets say there is an increase in crime and prison population, but if this is true, why did they close the Middlesex county jail and sell it at auction?" asked Mr. Smith. Six others have been closed, three sold at auction and three or four more will soon be on the auction block, he said.

The service was well attended and among those present was a large delegation of members of Ballardvale lodge, who came to hear their former chief templar talk on the vital subject.

Announces Coming Marriage

Mrs. Mary E. Scott of 384 South Broadway, Lawrence, announces the coming marriage of her daughter, Beatrice M. Scott, to Richard E. O'Brien, at St. Patrick's church at 4 o'clock, on November 8. Miss Scott is a former resident of this town and is very well known here.

Lodge to Celebrate Anniversary

An anniversary committee meeting of Ballardvale lodge, No. 105, I. O. G. T., was held at the home of D. H. Poor, on Thursday evening. The thirtieth anniversary will be observed on November 10, and the committee includes: D. H. Poor, chairman; Mrs. D. H. Poor, Mrs. Alfred Lundgren, Mrs. Frances Benson, Mrs. Lenora Hammond, David Wilkinson, Charles Litchfield.

Lodge Elects Officers

Chief Templar Alfred Lundgren presided at the regular meeting of Ballardvale lodge, held in Good Templar hall Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: C. T. Alfred Lundgren; V. T. David Wilkinson; secretary, Miss Julia Nicholas; treasurer, D. H. Poor; financial secretary, C. Litchfield; marshal, Doris Wilkinson; T. Bell Benson; P. C. T. Mrs. Lenora Hammond; register, Margaret Benson; pianist, L. Sheiric.

Lodge Deputy B. Robinson of Methuen will install the newly elected officers next Monday evening.

The mystery chain was won by David Wilkinson.

League Wins Banner

A fine representation from the local Epworth league of the Methodist church, won the banner for the league Monday evening, at a meeting of the Merrimack Valley Circuit league, held at the Pleasant street Methodist Episcopal church, Salem, N. H.

This being the third successive time the banner has been won by the local league, it will now stay in its possession for one year. The members who attended included Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Reynolds, Mr. George R. Moody, Mrs. Prudence Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Lillian Cramton, Beatrice Batchelder, Florence Sanborn, Anita Wells, Edith Moss, John and Edwin Russell, Robert Baker, Andrew Coffin, George Lawrence, Morris Stevens, Carl Wells.

Carl Wells was appointed third vice president of the circuit.

Men's Brotherhood Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood will be held Tuesday November 4. All members of the Methodist church parish are invited. Professor Dawber of Boston University will deliver a brief address and will furnish the entertainment. It is expected that it will be an evening of fun and profit.

George Brown, William Sparks, James Moss and Fred Sanborn comprise the committee in charge of arrangements. Edwin Brown is in charge of the volley ball schedule.

First U. S. Patent

The first United States patent was granted to a descendant of a Waterbury (Conn.) miller. The second was granted to a resident of Waterbury, and the number of patents now issued to people of that city is about double that which might be expected from the population.

Essex County Agricultural School Notes

On Wednesday, October 2, the Advisory Council of the school, held its first regular meeting for the year 1924-1925. The members of the Council expressed satisfaction in the progress being made in the various departments of the school, especially in the remodeled homemaker building and in the new greenhouse plant. The Essex County Association Board of Trade also held a meeting at the school on Wednesday, October 29.

Oliver Holmes, 1924, of Swampscott, is now located at the Woodlea Farm, Upton, Mass., where he is employed as dairyman.

Alfred Bryer, 1922, of Danvers, is employed as dairyman at the Essex County Industrial Farm. This farm has a fine herd of Ayrshire cows. The milk is supplied to the Essex County Sanatorium, Middleton.

Harold Holden, 1922, of Lynnfield Street, Peabody, has returned from North Branch, Michigan, where he has been employed by a cow-testing association. Holden has been engaged in this work since graduation.

J. Raymond Lord, class of 1921, is now located at A. C. Burrage's, Beverly Farms, where he has charge of the dairy.

A course in House Planning is being given to a group of girls at the Y. W. C. A. of Lawrence, by some of the instructors of the Homemaker department. Miss Louise Brightman is teaching house furnishing; Miss Alice Day, care of the home; Miss Ruth Erickson, nutrition; and Miss Harriet Hunting, meal preparation. The class is showing much interest and enthusiasm in the work.

Miss Ethel Browne, Head of the Sewing Division, is conducting an evening class in millinery in Middleton. The class is making good progress in learning to make and trim their winter hats.

Mrs. Clapp of the Homemaker staff, addressed the Chebacco Pomona Grange at Ipswich on October 15. Mrs. Clapp spoke on "Up-to-date millinery" and interested both sexes in her explanation of color, line, and suitability.

New Tenor Added to South Church Choir

Charles M. Dole, first tenor in the double quartet of the South church, has been compelled to retire as a member of that organization on account of business.

The music committee of the church has appointed as first tenor, Chauncey M. Mayo, formerly of the First Congregational church, of Exeter, N. H. Mr. Mayo commences his services next Sunday, November 2nd.

The other members of the organization are: Grace M. Allen, first soprano; Ethel J. Cole, second soprano; Mrs. Kenneth J. Fisk, first alto; Annie M. Muirhead, second alto; Arthur W. Bassett, second tenor; J. Everett Collins, baritone; Lawrence Bottomley, bass; Frederick G. Moore, organist and choirmaster.

Christ Church Notes

The first meeting of St. Catherine's guild, will be held next Tuesday at four o'clock. Mrs. Frank Paige, Mrs. Joseph N. Ashton and Miss Ethel Brown will be in charge.

Following choir rehearsal last Friday evening, Gordon S. Brown, organist and choirmaster of Christ church, was presented with a handsome silver platter by William Nicoll, in behalf of the choir. The platter was suitably engraved with his name and the date of his marriage, August 19, 1924.

Hallowe'en Party at South Church

An enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held at the South Church Tuesday night by the younger members of the church. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream, cake, and fudge were served.

Fraternal Association Holds Hallowe'en Party

A very successful Hallowe'en dance and social was held in the Fraternal hall last Friday evening under the direction of the fraternal association. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and refreshments consisting of cider, doughnuts, and hot coffee were served. Dancing was enjoyed from eight to twelve, music being furnished by Dwyer's orchestra.

The committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. William Orr, Mrs. Samuel Harris, Mrs. Katherine Bickell, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laurie, and Alfred Harris.

Careless Drivers Are The Skidders

Poor judgment is the cause of most skidding, declares the A. L. A.

Skidding is more frequent in the late fall, winter and during the early spring. At these periods of the year, skidding is looked upon by many motorists as unavoidable.

The streets and highways are wet and slippery. Turning, passing other cars, and stopping are the times when skidding most frequently occurs, and it is at such times and under such conditions that drivers do not use proper judgment. Skidding, even without chains, is avoidable.

While it is true that some makes of cars are more apt, through improper balance, to skid than other makes, a careful driver is able to manage safely the most slippery pavement under any condition of traffic. But he cannot do so if he uses too much speed. Cars skid only when the wheels are locked, and in order to produce a skidding movement they must be locked when the car is under speed improper for the conditions present. The momentum of the car is the force that pulls the car off its course and the wet and slippery pavement supplies the unresistant speedway. Applying the brakes suddenly on wet streets locks the wheels, the speed of your car does the rest.

What are some of the causes that make it necessary to apply the brakes and stop your car suddenly?

Inattention is one. On a slippery pavement the driver who does not adhere strictly to his driving is bound to get into trouble. The car ahead may be slowing down and he fails to notice it — when he does, on go his brakes and his car skids. He is apt to damn the fellow in front, when he himself is the only one to blame. A person suddenly stepping from the sidewalk is another cause for the quick application of the brakes.

You swerve your front wheels to avoid a collision and jam on the brakes. With his front wheels out of line and his rear ones locked the car performs unbearably. Perhaps the pedestrian is partly to blame for this, but if the driver watches sharply, as he ought, he will be better prepared, and a skid avoided.

Another auto coming suddenly out of a side street and meeting one of the main thoroughfares is a frequent cause of both auto skidding, because both operators were going too fast for slippery conditions at intersections. Lack of good judgment, speed and inattention is at the bottom of most skidding accidents.

It's difficult to pound good judgment into a brain that never had and can't recognize it. But the lack of judgment of the ordinary prudent man under conditions named may be due to ignorance of what makes a car skid. When shown he usually thereafter is careful, while the other fellow will do the same thing over again. He is careless because he is dull. All his driving is the same, and we wonder how he escapes accidents. It is not because of his dullness, but in spite of it, till some day the inevitable occurs, and not alone himself but others are involved.

FOOTBALL

Andover 7 — Brown Freshmen 10

"Red" Randall sent his old teammates down to defeat Saturday afternoon at the new Brothers Field gridiron when he booted a perfect drop from the 35-yard line, breaking a knotted score of seven all, and giving Brown Freshmen the edge 10-7, which they held to the end. Andover had scored early in the second period on a fine 16-yard run by Sandberg, and had staved off all Brown thrusts up to the beginning of the last period. The yearlings were not to be denied and, aided by two Andover offsidies and another penalty of ten yards for piling on, the latter being rather questionable judgment on the part of the officials, pushed the ball over for a touchdown. Andover fought hard to stem the rush, but Hadley, who had given the Blue trouble all afternoon when they attempted to bring him down, shot over the line of tackle.

Andover started the game off with sweeping end runs and advanced to the Brown 1-yard line, but the march ended when Billhardt, in an attempt to plough the line, fumbled, and Brown recovered. The pass to the Andover quarter was none too good and he did not get the ball tucked away securely before he hit the line.

Neither team was dangerous again until after the second period was well started, when Andover took possession of the ball on their own 47-yard line following a Brown punt. A perfect forward over the line of scrimmage, Billhardt to Ward, netted 16 yards. Billhardt wove through for 16 more on the next play and then Sandberg, with perfect interference, went through the whole Brown team for Andover's only score.

In the closing moments of the game Andover started a drive from their own 20-yard line. A forward from Sandberg to Billhardt was good for 10 yards. A wide end run was pulled off by Sandberg, who was brought down after he had gone 20 yards and was ready to break out into a clear field. Billhardt made a wonderful catch of a forward from Sandberg and took the ball into Brown territory but the yearling defense stiffened and Andover finally lost the ball on downs after attempting more forwads.

Both teams had fair success with the aerial game. Andover completed four passes and had five grounded, while the visitors completed three out of seven. Randall had chances to complete two more but dropped the ball after getting it in his hands.

Billhardt pulled a poor piece of football in the last quarter, which led to Randall's dropkick, when he attempted to catch a Brown punt on the dead run. He touched the ball and deflected it to a Brown player, from where it bounced over the ropes to the stands. As the last player to touch it before it went off the field was a Brown man, it was given to them on Andover's 26-yard line, from which point Randall kicked the drop after three attempts were made to make first down.

Punchard 27 — Winchester 6

Punchard High defeated Winchester, on the Andover playstead, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 27 to 6. The game drew a large gathering of fans, who anticipated a close battle between these High school leads.

From the outset, however, the game began to take on a decidedly Punchard tinge, and when the final whistle blew, the Punchard boys were far ahead of their lighter Winchester rivals.

The Winchester captain won the toss and chose to kick. Melley's kick went over the goal line and the ball was put in play on the 20-yard line. Coutts made 11 yards on the very first play, and then Punchard went steadily down the field for a touchdown, by a series of off-tackle plays and end runs.

Stevenson missed over for the touchdown. Souter missed his try for the goal.

Punchard again scored in the first period when Stevenson going off-tackle, fumbled and it was recovered by Kenyon for the second score. — Souter kicked the goal.

In the second period, a safety was registered. The Winchester punter was back to kick, and on a bad pass from the center was tackled behind his goal line.

The Winchester team at this point began to open up their game and by a cleverly executted forward pass made a score just before time was called for the half.

ANDOVER COLONIAL MONDAY & TUESDAY NOV. 3-4

"Will" Murphy made a spectacular run for a touchdown in the second quarter, when he scooped up a loose ball and raced 70 yards for a marker.

Late in the third quarter, Punchard again scored. Coutts took the ball around Winchester's right end and aided by perfect interference went 75 yards for the last score. Coutts' clever broken field running on this play brought the fans to their feet.

For the Punchard team, Coutts, Stevenson and Dyer's play was especially commendable, while for Winchester, Melley and Rolley performed the best.

A Little Out of the Way

But It Pays to Walk

Meet After Fifteen Years

Howard Hadley of North Main street, Shawsheen Village, and his older brother, George F. Hadley, now of Boston, are united after fifteen years of separation, during which neither had either seen or heard from the other. They last met in Manchester, N. H., fifteen years ago last spring, and since then George has traveled throughout this country and was in France during the war, while Howard has roamed throughout this country and Canada.

The happy reunion was the result of George's keen vision and memory. Each felt that the other was safe and sound in some little corner of the world and each hoped and prayed that they would meet once again.

Their prayers were answered and about

1.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Howard happened to be standing in front of a little grocery store on South Union street waiting for a friend to come out of the store, when the long lost brother happened along in a sedan. To Howard, who noticed the driver of the car staring at him, it meant nothing, while to the driver, it meant so much that words failed him. Stopping the car as it had never stopped before, George stepped out, and their was a happy reunion.

Miss Campbell took four children to the Middleton Health Camp, where their expenses were paid by the local committee. All showed marked improvement in general condition and gain in weight. One of them received the highest recognition for behavior at camp.

Women's Club

The monthly meeting of the Shawsheen Village Women's club, will be held Monday evening, November 3, at 7.45, in Balmoral hall. Miss Mabel F. Knight will be the speaker and her subject will be "The American Indian".

Mrs. Calvin B. Robbins will be hostess.

Distilled Common Sense

The Dominion of Canada is alarmed, and its Board of Trade has just issued the following warning. This warning is earnestly submitted to the mature judgment of Andover's business men, and urge their cooperation in the attempt now being made to inject greater caution and restraint into our present method of appropriating town monies.

Canada business men seem to be getting worried over their country's burden of public debt. That is a fair inference from a circular issued by the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade and addressed to citizens generally. After asserting that the present per capita debt of the Dominion is $612, the circular continues:

"Part of every dollar you spend goes to pay interest on the public debt, and the bigger the debt grows, the more of your money it will take away from you."

"These large debts are the result of years of public spending beyond our means and borrowing money to do it. We could not help that during the war, but the war was ended more than five years ago and we are still doing it."

"The governments and the municipal councils do the borrowing and the spending, and often get poor value for the money, but the people do the paying back, and you will have to do your share."

"Sooner or later this reckless borrowing and spending must end, and the sooner the better, but only the elector can stop it."

"If you want your public affairs managed as sensible men handle their private affairs, getting good value for what they spend and doing without things they cannot afford; if you want the cost of living to come down, so that you will have for yourself more of what you earn, the remedy is in your hands. At elections — Dominion, Provincial and Municipal — see to it that the men you vote for understand what you want, and make sure that they will support the policy of reducing the public debt."

St. Bartholomew Massacre

This massacre of the Huguenots occurred April 24-25, 1572. It grew out of feuds in France between the house of Guise and the Roman Catholics on the one hand, the house of Conde and the Huguenots on the other. From the tower of the royal palace the signal was given for the carnival of blood, which lasted several weeks. Statistics concerning the number of deaths occasioned by the massacre of St. Bartholomew vary from 2,000 to 100,000.

Shawsheen Bowling

The Giants were the only team to clean up Monday night, in the Shawsheen Mill bowling league, taking four from the Senators. The Yankees and Cubs had an exciting match. The former lost the first string by a good margin, the second by one pin and won the third by two, losing the total by 35 pins. The Braves and Tigers split even. Babb of the Cubs carried off all the honors with a single of 119 and a total of 300.

LOSES TO WAYPOYSET

Shawsheen Opens Auspiciously but Visitors Show Aggressive Front Led by Anderson

Shawsheen entertained Waypoysset Saturday at Balmoral field, in a National League game. The visitors were in great form and slipped over a rousing victory in the second period 4 to 2, after trailing at the interval 1-2. It was another great game that enthused approximately one thousand fans every minute of the play, which was stubbornly contested from start to finish.

Shawsheen opened at the very start of the first period most auspiciously. Torrance had to save two quick drives from Carie, which aroused their supporters, but Torrance was found safe and Murdock handled a good one from Anderson at the other end.

It was a grand movement by the Shawsheen front rank that was just tipped in the bud by Simone, that brought much relief to Waypoysset and when Bushnell got away later and beat a couple of defenders, it was Torrance that brought off the grand save from the winger. Indeed Shawsheen was playing hard but when Smith missed a golden opportunity two minutes later, the crowd got a shock from a breakthrough when Anderson ploughed his way through and opened the scoring by beating Murdock with a right-foot drive that gave the goalie no chance.

With Shawsheen pressing, McLaughlin was penalized 25 yards out and Nixon placing well to Smith, the inside left, drove the ball in the net amid loud cheering from the home supporters.

The teams were now again on an even footing and hereabouts Nixon and Anderson collided, heads together and both were injured, but resumed after attention. Just before the interval, McMaster got away and put in what apparently appeared a good centre, but the English was on it and had Torrance grasping at the air as the ball curled in under the cross bar and lodged safely in the net. It was a dandy, and this success was greeted with loud cheering, which incidentally put Shawsheen in the lead at half-time 2 to 1.

The second half opened briskly with Waypoysset storming the Shawsheen goal and Ross passed back to Murdock for the goalie to return to Ross to effect a clearance. Edwards dashed down the line on the left and Whitehead conceded a corner for safety. Edwards taking the kick, drove hard just inside the near upright. Murdock grabbed at the ball but in so doing the leather got away from him and rested safely in the net for the equalizing goal.

The ball had no sooner been placed in the centre, than Waypoysset attacked and Duffie seizing his opportunity, drove the ball in the net with Murdock making a desperate but futile effort to save.

The visitors' left flank worked wonderfully and through the great assistance of Anderson, Whitehead was repeatedly beaten by Edwards who played the big part when he beat the back later, and put in a good centre for Anderson to take the ball on the go and beat Murdock with a left-foot drive.

Waypoysset now had the game well in hand, but Shawsheen tried hard to score and McMaster came close, when he dropped the ball on the crossbar to come back in the field of play. This was headed away by Simone.

Waypoysset pressed strongly, the front line being aggressive and ever dangerous, ably led by Anderson. From a corner kick, McMaster placed well for Torrance to make a great save from the melee in front of the goal mouth. At the other end, Reid got the better of Ross, and fired in a good drive for Murdock to save.

Waypoysset continued to have the best of matters from now on, and came out deserved winners of a good hard-fought game by four goals to two.

Invited to Men's Club

The men of Shawsheen Village are invited to attend the meeting of the Men's club of the South church, to be held this evening, with Col. Charles R. Gow as the speaker. He will discuss the referendum that will appear on the ballot in the coming election. Col. Gow comes from Boston, and is president of the Boston City club and former president of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Dancing Classes

Mess Teresa V. Sheridan of Lawrence, has opened her Shawsheen dancing classes for the winter season in Balmoral Hall. Miss Sheridan, who has had marked success last year with her local classes, and already has a large number of pupils registered for the present term. The classes are held on Wednesday afternoon and she will be pleased to meet the mothers at all times.

Last Wednesday a Halloween party was held after the dancing class during which games were played and favors exchanged by the children.

Truck Catches Fire

The fire department were called at 7.25 Monday evening, to Shawsheen square, where a truck bound for Newburyport and heavily laden with fruit had caught fire. It was extinguished with the aid of the local department. It is believed the tonnage of the truck was so great as to cause the brake bands to catch fire.

Boy Scouts

The Shawsheen Boy Scouts met last Friday evening in the Boy's club on Haverhill street with Scoutmaster Norman Allen in charge. Military drill and formation was held and games played and stories told by many of the boys.

Another meeting in the form of a Halloween party was held Wednesday instead of Friday, and at this meeting many scouts had guests who were eligible to join the organization. Cider and doughnuts were served and all sorts of games played.

Boys over twelve who are interested to join, should get in touch with the scoutmaster.

Halloween Dinner Dance

Residents of this vicinity will miss one of the most enjoyable social occasions of the year, if they fail to attend the Halloween dinner dance, at the Shawsheen restaurant which is to be held tonight, under the direction of the Shawsheen Manor. The Shawsheen restaurant, which seats 400 people and still allows plenty of space for dancing, has been specially decorated for the affair and favors and noise-makers will add to the carnival atmosphere. The Balmoral ten-piece orchestra will play for dancing from seven to one o'clock, and a perfect floor will provide ideal conditions for dancers.

Manager DeAcutis has planned an exceptionally appetizing menu and an extra staff of waiters has been engaged to give service up to the standard maintained at the Manor.

The list of reservations already made include parties from Boston, Lowell and Haverhill as well as Andover and Lawrence. The affair has every indication of repeating its great success of last year.

Marched in Boston

Nearly 150 men and women of the Village went to Boston last night and marched in the big Republican parade held there. They came mainly from the Shawsheen Mill and the Administration building and marched in the Wool Trade division. The trip was made in automobiles.

James R. Bailey, Jr., was chief marshal, and Roy W. Hall was his aide.

Dancing Party

A dancing party will be held next Wednesday evening, November 5, in the November clubhouse, under the direction of Joseph Wright and Edward Dodge of Shawsheen Village. The Delta Chi Omega fraternity orchestra of Boston University has been secured for the affair. Tickets may be obtained at the Balmoral Spa or from Mr. Wright or Mr. Dodge.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Everett Man Falls Two Men in One Day, Injuring Local Man Fatally Near His Own Home

Bernard Sweeney of 222 North Main street was struck and almost instantly killed by an automobile, Sunday evening, about 8:15 o'clock, in Shawsheen Village. The car involved in the fatal accident belonged to D. J. McCormack of 80 Hancock street, Everett. Mr. McCormack was arranged in Andover police court, following the accident, and his case was continued until after the medical examiner's report should be received. The police report said within two hours of the time of the accident in Andover, Mr. McCormack knocked down a man on River street, Haverhill, injuring him so severely, that he was taken to the Hale hospital.

According to witnesses, Mr. Sweeney was returning from Lawrence, and left the car at Shawsheen Village, walking the rest of the way to his home. He was crossing the street to his house when he was struck. Mr. McCormack states that he was driving at a moderate rate of speed, when the man appeared in front of him. Chief F. M. Smith, who was driving from Shawsheen to Andover, at the time, summoned Dr. Griffin of Shawsheen, when he arrived at the scene of the accident, but the man was dead before the doctor arrived. The medical examiner pronounced death due to fracture of the skull.

Mr. Sweeney, who was about fifty-seven years of age, was employed by J. H. Campion, as caretaker. He is survived by his wife, Anne; two sons, Francis and Bernard Sweeney; and four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Broadhurst, Misses Mary, Jennie and Catherine Sweeney.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Augustine's church, Tuesday morning, by Rev. Thomas P. Fogarty, assisted by Rev. Patrick J. Campbell as deacon, and Rev. John A. Nugent as sub-deacon. At the offertory, J. William Mahoney sang "Jesu Salvator Mundi", and at the close the organist, Miss Anna G. Donovan, played Beethoven's funeral march. Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

The bearers were Patrick Egan, James McGowan, George Body, James Keefe, Patrick Brady and John Traynor, all of whom were members of Division No. 6, A. O. H., of which the deceased was a member.

Birthday and Halloween Party

A pretty afternoon party was given on Monday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Sherburne, of Carisbrook street, Shawsheen, in honor of the ninth birthday of their little daughter, Ruth. The affair was a birthday and Halloween party combined, and the home was prettily decorated for the occasion in Halloween colors. Various games were played and dainty favors were received by all the little girls, after which they marched to the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Ruth received many beautiful gifts, and the best wishes of all present who included Margaret Bartlett, Barbara Payton, Barbara Porter, Janice Wray, Eleanor Winslow, Betty Wade, Barbara Hill, Louise Holt, Margaret Harig, Dorothy McGrath, Florence Dodge and Ruth Sherburne. The presence of a few of Ruth's grown-up friends added much joy to the little girl's happiness, and made her party one long to be remembered by her. These were her two teachers, Miss Sara Campbell and Mrs. Carl Gahan, and Dr. W. D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walls, Mrs. James J. Payton and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Brown.

Torchlight Parade

The first torchlight parade that has been held in the town for over twenty years had its start on the Mall in Shawsheen Village, Tuesday night. It was staged by the Republican town committee in connection with the rally in the town hall and while it was not so colorful as those of former years, lacking the costumes that made them popular, it was an enthusiastic demonstration. Headed by the Killie band of Lawrence, the marchers started from the Mall and headed up North Main street to the square where they disbanded for the rally.

Shawsheen Community Church

Rev. Newman Matthews of the West Parish church, will be the speaker at the services held Sunday night at 7.30 in Balmoral hall. Miss Ethel Cole of Andover will be the soloist and the choir will sing "O Lord My Trust Is in Thy Mercy" (Hall). The services are undenominational, and everyone is invited to attend. Sunday school will be held as usual at 9.30 in Balmoral hall.
